

1. Aims and scopes

Media Pharmaceutica Indonesiana (MPI) publishes papers (in Bahasa Indonesia and English) reporting the results of original research, short communications and critical reviews on all pharmaceutical fields. It covers a wide range of pharmaceutical biology, pharmaceutical chemistry, pharmaceuticals, pharmacology and toxicology, community and clinical pharmacy, pharmaceutical microbiology as well as other researches related to the pharmaceutical issues.

2. Types of paper

- Original research papers

The papers should report the results of original research and manuscripts have not been previously published elsewhere and should be exclusively submitted to the MPI. Further requirement for this type of paper please refer to point 6 (Preparation).

- Review articles

Review articles should provide concise and critical updates on a subject of current interest. Authors should contact the editor in chief or managing editor before submission to ensure possibility for publications.

- Short communications

Short communications is a concise but complete description of a limited investigation (experiment). This type of paper should not occupy more than 8 manuscript pages, including figures, tables and references.

3. Conflict of interest

All authors are requested to disclose any potential conflict of interest including any financial, personal or other relationships with other people or organizations.

4. Ethics committee approval

Investigations using human and/or experimental animals must state in the methods section that the research was conducted in accordance with the internationally accepted principles and was approved by the institutional human or animal experimentation committee or equivalent, and that informed consent was obtained.

5. Submission

Authors should follow the format of the journal. Editable files (e.g. Word) are required to typeset your articles for final publication. Each manuscript is reviewed by the editor. If it is suitable for publication, it is then sent to at least two reviewers for blind reviewed. Based on their evaluations, the editor decides whether the paper could be accepted, revised or rejected. Please submit your manuscripts to the online submission. All correspondences, including notification of the editor's decision and request for revision, are sent via e-mail. There is no submission fee. All correspondences should be directed to the editorial office of the journal, i.e.:

6. Preparation

Manuscript should be written with Arial font number 12, double space, maximum 20 pages on A4 paper with margin 3 cm from all sides. Every line and page should be numbered. Divide your articles into clearly numbered sections and sub sections (1, 1.1, 1.1.1; 2, 2.1, 2.1.1, etc.). The files should be saved in the native format of the word processor. The text should be in a single-column format. Prepare the figures, charts and graphs separately from the text files.

7. Article structure

In general, article should contain title page, abstract accompanied with key words, introduction, materials and methods, results and discussion, conclusion, acknowledgement (if any) and references.

- Title page
The title should be concise (not more than 14 words) and informative. Please clearly indicate the given name(s) and family name(s) of each author. Present the authors' affiliation addresses below the names. Clearly indicate who will handle correspondence at all stages of publication by presenting his/her e-mail address.
- Abstract
The abstract should state briefly (100-200 words) the objectives of the research, methods used, the principal results and main conclusions. References and uncommon abbreviations should be avoided from the abstract. Please state 3-5 keywords below the abstract. For article in Bahasa Indonesia, abstract should be written both in Bahasa Indonesia and English.
- Introduction
State the background and objectives of the research. Avoid a detail literature review or summary of the results.
- Materials and methods
Provide sufficient detail methods to allow the work to be reproduced. Methods already published should be indicated by a reference. Only relevant modifications should be described. Please state specific material and equipment used in the research, including the sources (e.g., company's name, country).
- Results and discussion
Results should be clear and concise. Discuss the significance of the results of the work. Avoid extensive citations and discussion of published literature.
- Conclusion
Present the conclusion which is the answer of research questions in a short paragraph.
- Acknowledgement
List here those who provided help during the research (e.g., financial support, helpful discussion, data analysis, etc.).
- References
Please ensure that every reference cited in the text is also present in the references list (and vice versa). Citations to these references will be formatted according to the journal style. Where applicable, author name(s), journal/book title, article/chapter title, year of publication, volume number/book chapter and the pagination must be present. Please format the references according to the Vancouver style as illustrated below.
